Some misunderstanding appears to have arisen as to what the city council and planning commission have recommended for the Forest Theater. At no time has either of these municipal bodies suggested that the city-owned open-air theatre, which was founded in 1910, should become a parking lot.

In the first place, the location of the theatre is in the midst of the residential district and far removed from the business zone. A parking lot so far away from the shopping area would be a ridiculous undertaking.

Secondly, the Forest Theater site is a wooded hillside. Neither the city council nor the planning commission, both dedicated preservers of the natural beauty of Carmel and its urban forest, would even consider bulldozing the theatre site to create black-topped off-street parking spaces.

In its budget sessions this summer, the city council allocated $6,175 to be spent on the Forest Theater in 1964-65. This sum included $400 to refinish the outdoor stage; $750 for exterior lighting; $1,000 for benches and grounds; $500 for a dimming panel; $350 for two acoustical shells; $200 for a dehumidifier for the small theatre under the stage; $500 for a theatre manager and $200 for an equipment operator. In addition, the council allocated $725 for a symphony concert and $300 for six puppet performances at the Forest Theater.

These provisions clearly show that the council was endeavoring to keep the theatre in operation. However, during the budget sessions, there was discussion about the future of the theatre.

Councilman James Buffington Jr. remarked that the city was "spending an awful lot of money for a few people." He further stated that there was "no bright future for outdoor performances" in Carmel.

There was more informal discussion of the future of the theatre. Even if it were converted into a park and playground, the hilly terrain on which the theatre is situated, it was pointed out, would make it difficult to construct a parking lot for the cars of persons using recreational facilities. Moreover, any such off-street parking would be hard to locate because of the necessity to preserve the natural beauty of the site.

And that was all that was ever mentioned by the council about a parking lot at the Forest Theater.

Last week, the planning commission approved a report which is to be sent to the council. In this report a recommendation was made about the Forest Theater. It was that the theatre be kept

The Rhyming Philosopher

By Harry W. Fletcher

When the dark rain clouds go, that's if ever they do, and the sun's warming glow makes my bloodstream unglue; if I live until spring or when summer is here, and the wild birds still sing, I'll have nothing to fear I might not make it.

When each year autumn folds and comes winter's bleak blows, then I'm laid up with colds and a red runny nose, with those unnerving chills. Though I'm shot full of dope and most colorful pills, while I hope —I never shake it.

So I stay close in bed, with a beautiful nurse to be sure I'm well fed so I don't get much worse. And while some recommend to take whiskey, I'm sure you can always depend mine's the one safest cure—for that's how it's rated.

Let the skeptical scoff 'til their gizzards get hoarse; when you get a bad cold it must run out its course. So what troubles you face in the whirlwind of fate, simply slow down your pace and be patient and wait 'til the storm has abated.

Contract Awarded For School Addition

Construction of new facilities on the present junior high school site was considered by the Carmel Unified School District board of education last night, also a possible Peninsula-wide school district.

Approved was a contract with Hampshire Construction Company, low bidder ($117,918) for the construction of eight classrooms to replace those lost by the sale of Sunset School to the City of Carmel. These rooms will be used for fifth and sixth graders when the junior high becomes an intermediate school in September. The contract calls for completion of the construction by June 30, the date on which the school district must leave the Sunset premises.

Tentative preliminary plans for an instructional materials and administration offices facility, estimated total cost of $158,050, were presented to the board by Fred Keeble of the architectural firm of Keeble and Rhoda, architects selected by the board for this project.

This facility, in the plans, is situated to the left of the entrance road to the school but will be a complete entity. The offices and other rooms enclose a square inner court.

Mr. Keeble's plans also showed a future eight and three-fourths acre K-4 elementary school site and a school bus garage site on the campus. This led to his advocating a master plan for the development of the entire site. He also advised the board to investigate Hatton Park, a golf course-hotel development proposed for 75

On Wednesday, the City of Carmel will formally accept trees donated by the Carmel Kiwanis Club for the beautification of Junipero Avenue. The ceremony will take place at 2 p.m. on Junipero between Sixth Street and Ocean Avenue.

School Trustees Newton And Neill Seek Re-election

Yesterday, the two members of the Carmel Unified School District board of education whose terms expire on June 30 told the Pine Cone that they are seeking re-election for a second four-year term on April 20. They are the board's present chairman, Dr. Robert E. Newton, and Trustee Clayton Neill Jr., now clerk of the board.

"I am pleased with things we are doing and look forward to working toward further accomplishments," was the statement Dr. Newton gave for seeking another term.

Mr. Neill gave his reasons for running for re-election in the following statement.

"I am interested in serving again on the school board because of an interest in and enthusiasm for better education. Education is the key in our society both for the individual in achieving his own goals and for the country as a whole. Carmel parents and residents can be proud of our school curriculum and teaching staff and our outstanding school superintendent. In addition, they should be cognizant of the many beneficial improvements being undertaken in the schools in order to keep pace with the terrific advancements in technology, teaching methods and the availability of knowledge in written form."

Bialek Battles Bair Over 'IBM' Teaching Schedule

It was almost today when last night's meeting of the board of education ended but as the clock turned towards midnight a battle between Board Member Dr. Hilton Bialek and Superintendent Medill Bair aroused trustees, administrators, teachers and parents.

Cause of the controversy was the outdoor science and conservation camp program for sixth grade students. Last year, for financial reasons, Mr. Bair told the board, he had discontinued sending sixth grade classes to Redwood Glen Camp in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Dr. Bialek said he would like to reinstitute the program which would cost the district $2,500 for 225 students this year. It was his impression, he said, that parents desired the camp experience for their children.

"You are deceived that there is universal parental approval," Dr. Robert Newton, school board chairman, told Dr. Bialek. He added that a substantial segment of parents approved the camp program but another segment was not so enthusiastic.

At the request of Mr. Bair, Sunset School Principal Orville Rogers told the board what the effect of taking sixth graders out of school for a week would have on the schedule for ungraded instruction in the intermediate elementary school.

"Is the week in camp worth the interruption in the schedule?", was the paramount question to be considered, Mr. Rogers said. More science instruction and field trips might, perhaps, equal the outdoor instruction at the camp, he added.

"To consider a schedule more important than an educational program is ridiculous. Talk to the science teachers; they think the camp program invaluable," Dr. Bialek countered.

Neil Smith, science teacher at Sunset School, corroborated Dr. Bialek's defense of the camp experience, also stressed the social benefits to sixth graders derived from camping for a week with students from other districts, their classmates and teachers.

"This experience cannot be had at home," he emphasized.

Another Sunset science teacher, Donald Blakeman, also defended the camp program. His opinion was that "money is immaterial" compared to the knowledge gained by students in the camp. This knowledge, he added, was augmented by classroom work both before and after the week's camping.

Two parents, Mrs. Keith L. White and Mrs. John Davis upheld the teachers. They live far up Carmel Valley on the Hastings Reservation and waited until nearly midnight for the camp item to be discussed.

In the midst of the discussion, Dr. Bialek used the term "IBM" as a derogatory epithet to describe a teaching schedule which could not be interrupted for students to gain invaluable knowledge at the science and conservation camp.

"The schedule is for the good of all the kids," interrupted Mr. Bair considerably aroused from his usual genial calm. He added that taking out two sixth grade classes for a week three different times, plus two science teachers, "would destroy the schedule for all the kids in the school."

"But if you want the camp we'll have it," he emphasized. "The sooner you decide the better." He said he could hire substitute teachers to replace those at camp.

Dr. Bialek was all for "action now" on the camp program.

Trustees Steven Sassoon and Clayton Neill Jr. wanted a delay for more information on the camp and exploration of the upset of the teaching schedule the camp

Honor Band, Carmel High Choir To Present Unique Compositions

A specially selected group of 76 high school musicians from Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito counties will present an Honor Band concert on Saturday at 8 p.m. in Sunset School auditorium.

Guest conductor for the evening will be William Schaefer, director of the Trojan Band at the University of Southern California.

The "Symphonie For Band" number on the program was written by Louis Jadin in 1794. This composition was found by Mr. Schaefer in the archives of the Bibliotheque Nationale in Paris and was arranged by him for modern symphonic band presentation.

John Farr, Carmel High School music instructor, will direct the Carmel High School Choir in a group of choral numbers which will include a California premiere of "Alleluia," composed by Dr. Charles Harlan, a music instructor in the Monterey public school system. In December, the Monterey County Symphony played an orchestral tone poem by the same composer.

Robert Tarbox of Carmel, young pianist who won the Young Artists Award competition sponsored by the Junior League, will accompany the Carmel High School Choir which will sing selections by Brahms, Dello Joio, Bright, Marfarran and Gershwin in addition to the "Alleluia" premiere.

The band, besides the Jadin-Schaefer number, will perform arrangements by Prokofief-Goldman, Holst, Willson-Reed and Fillmore.

The Honor Band concert is an annual event sponsored by the coast counties section of California Music Educators. Performances are rotated in the three counties.

Members of the Honor Band were selected by auditions in November and represent 12 high schools. Carmel members of the band are Larry Hearn, Dave Erickson, Shawn Folsom and Dave Schetter.

To defray expenses, there will be an admission charge of one dollar. Students will be admitted for 50 cents.

Scott J. Monroe

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Scott James Monroe, 82, well-known Carmel Valley resident who died Friday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Monroe was a native of LaSalle, Illinois, and moved to California in 1919 following his discharge from the U.S. Army, with which he had served in France during World War I. He was a resident of the San Francisco Bay area and Los Gatos until 1939, when he and his wife, Mattie, came to the Valley. In addition to his wife, he leaves a son, Robert Hayes Monroe of San Jose.

Services for Mr. Monroe at the Paul Funeral Chapel were in charge of Carmel American Legion Post 512, of which he was a member, and burial took place at the Golden Gate National Cemetery in San Bruno.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Monroe may do so in the form of donations to the Gateway Center, 1664 Hilby Avenue, Seaside.

Mary Dekker

Mrs. Mary Dekker, widow of William N. Dekker and a Carmel resident for many years, died at her home here on Saturday after a period of failing health. Her husband was killed in action during World War II while on duty with the U.S. Air Force in Italy.

Mrs. Dekker's interests were many and diversified, and she possessed a fine, critical appreciation of the arts, music and literature.

Born in Salinas, Mrs. Dekker was the daughter of John Ernst Steinbeck, for many years Monterey County Treasurer, and Olive Hamilton Steinbeck.

She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Joan D. Heyler of Beverly Hills and Mrs. Susan D. Blois of Menlo Park; a brother, Nobel Prize winning author John Steinbeck; two sisters, Mrs. C. J. Rodgers of Watsonville and Mrs. E. G. Ainsworth of Pacific Grove; and three granddaughters, Mary, Elizabeth and Katherine Heyler of Beverly Hills.

Family services for Mrs. Dekker were arranged through the Paul Mortuary.

Those who wish to make contributions in her memory may do so to the Harrison Memorial Library or to the Monterey County Cancer Society, Box 1028, Monterey.

Wilderness Film At Sunset Tuesday

"Wilderness Trails, with Charles Tyler Hotchkiss as narrator, will be the Audubon Screen Tour to be presented at the Sunset School auditorium at 8 p.m. on Tuesday.

The rugged Rockies, glacier peaks, steaming geysers, tundra, mangrove swamps and golden glades with their sharply contrasting wildlife are featured in this dramatic film produced and narrated by Mr. Hotchkiss. A great variety of animals — large and small, feathered and furred, are shown in their natural environments. Four national parks are represented.

Mr. Hotchkiss graduated from the University of Illinois with a master's degree in physical education. He later attended Colorado Agricultural and Mechanical College in Fort Collins, Colorado, to take additional courses in park recreation. His interest in recreation and wild life management finally led him into the National Park Service.

For seven years, Mr. Hotchkiss held positions as seasonal ranger and seasonal ranger-naturalist at Grand Teton, Mt. McKinley and Everglades national parks. During these years, he spent much of his time documenting on color film for the National Park Service the lives and habits of various birds and other animals. He also made a study of the effect of varying water levels on bird concentration in Everglades National Park. His home is in Homestead, Florida.

The Audubon Screen Tours are co-sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society and the Carmel Unified School District.

John McFaddan

The death of John Murray McFaddan, 73, occurred on Friday after a brief hospitalization for illness.

A native of Madison, Wisconsin, he had made his home on the Peninsula for eleven years and, at the time of his death, resided in Carmel with his wife, Norma. Besides his wife, he leaves three sons, Patrick McFaddan of Nevada, Floyd J. McFaddan of Milwaukee and DeWayne McFaddan of Carmel Valley.

Funeral services, with the Reverend Walter W. Grumm of Bethlehem Lutheran Church officiating, were held Monday in the Dorney and Farlinger Memorial Chapel. Burial took place that afternoon in Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

The Corner Cupboard

Announces the retirement of Marian Adams and Florence Smythe as its present owners—

In leaving we wish to thank the many friends and patrons we have had throughout the years.

— and all those who have worked with and for us during this time, we have enjoyed and appreciated knowing you all. Some of you may recall when Elspeth Rose started her Tea Room and antique gift shop. It was around 1925 and she named it The Corner Cupboard. Ethel Palmer and Kathryn Woodhead bought it from her. In 1938 Marian Adams and Louise Gribben took over — remember? Then a few years later Louise left to buy The Country Shop, and in 1945 Florence Smythe came to be partners with Marian. Now 1965 J. Ritchie Dunn and his wife Jean will carry on.

To them as the new owners, we wish the joys we have had in The Corner Cupboard and the continued pleasure of knowing you as their friends and patrons.

Music Society Audience Enchanted By Superlative Teresa Berganza Singing

BY DOUGLAS TAYLOR

The Carmel Music Society contributed a great service to music lovers of this community by engaging Teresa Berganza to sing at Sunset School auditorium Tuesday night.

With her husband, Felix Lavilla, providing brilliant piano accompaniment, the singer enchanted the capacity audience with the opening, well-chosen Vivaldi "Piango gemo sospiro" and continued to do so throughout the concert of Italian, French and Spanish songs—with one exception, "Alleluia" by Purcelli, to quote the program. Surely this should have been Henry Purcell, the great English composer.

The first group of songs concluded in true coloratura style with a Rossini aria from "Semirande."

The second group consisted of songs by Debussy, Ravel, Milhaud and Poulenc, very varied in type and providing the artiste great scope for her interpretative ability and light and shade of tone.

Berganza's voice is of exceptional purity, impeccable intonation, remarkable flexibility and under almost perfect control—only an occasional high note under extreme breath pressure deviated from perfection—and this deviation was almost a relief from a dazzling display of virtuosity . . . practically superhuman.

After the intermission, Teresa Berganza sang songs by Nin, Guridi, Oberadors and Falla, also five delightful compositions by Lavilla, her husband and accompanist.

The superb team work of the singer and her accompanist reminded me of another married pair in a different field, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne.

Berganza, who I think, can be named in the singular as Tibaldi, Caruso, and Gigli because of her undoubted excellence, showed a delicious sense of humor, particularly in this second half of the concert.

To refer again to her vocal equipment, the "legato" was perfectly sustained and there was no trace of laryngeal "wobble." Her trills were under wonderful control and the quality of her voice, from pianissimo to double forte (not fortissimo) had perfect equality.

After two encores, this gifted pair of artists appeared several times to acknowledge the applause. The composer-pianist member of the team was modest and retiring in giving, by means of appropriate gestures, the limelight to his wife. She is fortunate in having such a partner.

The Teresa Berganza concert was a memorable occasion. Let us hope we can have her return, with her husband, before too long to again give us such pleasure as was experienced by music lovers Tuesday night.

New Police Station

The Carmel Planning Commission, last week, recommended Junipero Avenue as a site for a new police station—and that this site be part of a planned civic center.

In a report for the city council, the planning commission asked the council to "authorize, initiate and complete a site development plan for a civic center on the city-owned land on Junipero Avenue in accordance with the Carmel General Plan.

The report also stated that, "while there is an urgent need for new police station facilities at the earliest feasible date, precipitate action to provide these facilities without considering the overall future of all municipal facilities could lead to a considerable and unnecessary waste of public funds."

In addition, the report said that the present police station site is "small in area, has little potential future value to the city and will bring a high cash return at this time." Therefore, the report indicated that a sale of the police station site, appraised at $90,000, warrants "consideration." Funds from such a sale could be used to help finance other municipal projects the report suggested.

She will live in England with a local family, exactly where is not yet known, and will work independently on her Pomona studies in the field of psychology.

A graduate of the Carmel High School in 1961, Peggy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert E. Newton, who are almost as excited about the appointment as she. Her father is chairman of the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District.

Peggy will be home next week, after the close of the semester, to visit family and friends and make preparations for her trip to England later in the month.

Honor For Jeanie Roeder

Jeanie Roeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Roeder, has been appointed a member of Mademoiselle Magazine's 1965 College Board and may now compete for one of the 20 guest editorships awarded by the magazine each May. She is the second Carmel girl to be chosen by the periodical, Marcia McGinnis having served on the board last year and gone on to win a guest editorship. The lucky guest editors spend the month of June in New York as salaried employees of Mademoiselle, working, learning, visiting interesting people and places. They are also given consideration for future staff positions.

Jeanie graduated as one of the top students of the class of 1961 at Carmel High School. She attended Scripps in Claremont before going on to the University of Texas. Last summer found her at Harvard, where she enrolled for courses in her major, the humanities. She is currently pursuing her degree at the University of California in Berkeley and will graduate this year.

Her family, who were not notified prior to the press releases, are excited and tremendously pleased, particularly because Jeanie has persevered for three years toward this goal.

If this talented young lady makes it through the final competition, she may be as lucky as was Marcia McGinnis, whose group received a bonus of a trip to England last year. Marcia, as you may remember, made such an impression on the editors that she was asked to stay on for some time after her guest editorship terminated. She is continuing her studies at San Jose State.

What Our Boys Are Doing

The United States Navy is keeping more than one of our boys busy.

Stephen Penn Rose, seaman recruit, has been undergoing two weeks of active duty training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, whence he will return to his reserve unit for further training. Penn is the son of Mrs. Virginia Rose.

Also in San Diego is Marine Private Steve G. Grinstine, son of Mrs. Jean J. Grinstine. In December, Steve received the phyiscal excellence award provided by the La Jolla Chapter of the Military Order of the World Wars.

Seaman Apprentice Charles R. Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond D. Benson, is aboard the destroyer USS Chevalier which is operating with the Pacific Fleet. He will visit Japan, Hong Kong and the Philippines.

Constructionman Apprentice Arthur Carriel left Port Hueneme for Okinawa last week. He is a member of the first Seabee battalion to deploy entirely by air. While in Okinawa the battalion will construct a new marine barracks at Camp Hansen.

Woman's Club Program

On Monday at 2 p.m., Mrs. Alexander W. Cleary, president of the Carmel Woman's Club, will present noted artist Jacques Cartier, described by the New York Times as "America's greatest one-man show."

Mr. Cartier uses an unusual, fascinating art form—a fusion of drama, dance, music and costume. Each character is portrayed in a delightful vignette built around a hitherto undiscovered happening in his life. Those who saw his performance here eight years ago remember that he held his audience spellbound with his exciting portrayals. This time his varied program will range from Genghis Khan, Captor of Cathay, to Shalam, the Beggar of Jerusalem.

Members, who may bring as many guests as they wish to this "open meeting," are advised to come early.

Mr. and Mrs. William Current of Carmel Highlands are the happy parents of a baby girl, their first child. Jennifer, as she has been named, arrived somewhat prematurely on January 15 at Community Hospital. Although still in an incubator on Monday, she was reported to be getting along fine.

About seven months ago, the Currents chose the Highlands as their base while Mr. Current, a photographer, is working under a Guggenheim grant; they previously lived in the area around Santa Fe and Taos, New Mexico.

Jennifer's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thurlow Robert Counter of Laguna Beach, and her great-grandmother, Mrs. P. G. James is a resident of Salt Lake City. Mrs. Counter is currently visiting her daughter here.

Alert the mariachis in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico! Their favorite peso dispensing machine, F. Robert Smith, and his wife Lili, are arriving at the airport on Monday to spend two weeks in the tropical resort.

On their heels, or wings, will be Marjory Lloyd, Prefering comfort to bumping over dusty or swampy roads with her husband, Frank, she is clutching a plane ticket for departure on February 5. Meanwhile Frank, who with Joe Ataide, started out in a camp wagon last Friday, is exploring along the way. Provided he doesn't get stuck in the river Ameca again, he will be in Vallarta to greet his wife at the airport. They plan to remain a month and will share a house with the Smiths for a part of that time.

Stuyvesant Fish will arrive there to check the action about the middle of February. His ultimate goal is Guatemala.

The Vaughn Shoemakers, who are negotiating for the purchase of a house in Vallarta, also plan to spend some time there soon. They'll have neighbors from Carmel, since the Bert Dienelts have long owned and spent much of the year in a house in the village, and Mandy Webb of Carmel Valley has completed his new "hacienda."

Willamette Student

California accounts for more than 20 percent of the undergraduates enrolled at Willamette University in Salem, Oregon. Among out-of-state students is Oliver Beaudette of Carmel, son of Palmer Beaudette of the Beaudette Foundation. When Mr. Beaudette was queried about his son's plans, he replied that other than becoming President of the United States, Oliver doesn't seem to have anything definite in mind at the moment.

Back From Hawaii

Mrs. Gladys Johnston is just back from a two-week visit in the Islands, where she saw numerous ex-Carmelites. Among them was Mike Gould, who will soon return to inspect his new house in the Carmel Valley Country Club area.

Although the Islanders were complaining of the "cold," Mrs. Johnston found the weather delightful and the tone of her voice indicates she had a wonderful time. On this trip she found time to see a couple of the islands she had not visited before.

Medal For CWO Eyster

The Army Commendation Medal was awarded Chief Warrant Officer Charles H. Eyster at Fort Ord on January 19. Mr. Eyster, a native of Shamokin, Pennsylvania, has over 21 years of active military service. He and his wife and three children are Carmel residents.

Two Carmel students will be among those graduating from San Jose State College at the termination of the Fall semester tomorrow. George W. Berg will receive a bachelor of science degree in business and industrial management, as will Gordon E. Hurd, son of the Vernon Hurds.

Art News . . . .

The Laky Galleries, temporarily located in Suite Four in the Pine Inn courtyard, will have a one-man show next week of work by James Guilford Swinnerton of Palm Desert. This artist was closely associated with Carmel in the early years of this century.

Mr. Swinnerton created the first newspaper comic strip. He will be remembered for "Little Jimmy," ""The Canyon Kids" and "Laughing Sam" which appeared in newspapers across the United States. A cartoon of Perry Newberry, depicted as the editor of the Pine Cone in the 1920s, has been loaned by this paper for exhibition in conjunction with the showing of 13 large oil paintings of the desert and a group of sketches by Mr. Swinnerton at the Laky Galleries.

The late William Randolph Hearst, impressed by Mr. Swinnerton's news illustrations for New York papers, persuaded him to join the staff of the San Francisco Examiner at the turn of this century. He was a founder of the San Francisco Press Club and a member of the Bohemian Club.

For the past 50 years, Mr. Swinnerton has lived near Palm Springs. He has become known during these years as an outstanding representational painter of desert scenes. In November, he celebrated his 90th birthday.

The Laky Galleries are located at Pine Inn while extensive remodeling of the galleries' premises on San Carlos above Sixth Street is in progress. The work is expected to be finished some time next week and the Laky Galleries then will return to its permanent location.

The board of trustees of the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts has re-elected Leonard Heller as president. Charles Simpson is 1st vice-president; Mrs. Rutledge Bray, 2nd vice-president; Steve Crouch, 3rd vice-president; Miss Alice Harwood, recording secretary; Mrs. William E. Oberholtzer, corresponding secretary; and Harold Willis, treasurer.

Board members elected by the chapter's membership for a three-year term are Mrs. Shreve Archer Jr., Dr. William Fitzhugh Jr., Mrs. E. E. Yeomans, Mrs. William Arnold, Sam Karas, Mrs. William Oberholtzer, Roderick Dewar, Mrs. Roger Hope, Mrs. Robert Work and Mrs. Herbert G. Meyer.

Two local artists plan to do some painting in Mexico. Joe Ataide left last Friday to drive down the Pacific Coast of Mexico, cross to Baja California and spend several days in La Paz, then return to Mazatlan with plans to explore the jungle and seacoast in Jalisco before visiting inland cities.

Richard Lofton plans to follow much of this route in February.

The trustees of the James D. Phelan Awards announce the 30th competition with awards amounting to $2,500 for Northern California painters. The prizes will be $500, $300, $200, $150 and $100 each.

Those planning to enter the competition must have been born in California and be between the ages of 20 and 40.

Applications must be made on a special form which may be obtained by writing to Phelan Award, 814 Grant Building, 1095 Market Street, San Francisco. Each applicant may enter two paintings, both of which may be accepted for exhibition at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor in San Francisco during the month of April.

Twenty-five half-tuition scholarships for high school seniors, also transfer students who have completed not more than two years of college, and who plan to enter California College of Arts and Crafts in September of this year will be awarded following a statewide competition. Applications may be obtained by writing to the college, Broadway at College Avenue, Oakland, California 94618.

Applications, transcripts, letters of recommendation and portfolios must be received by April 15, 1965.

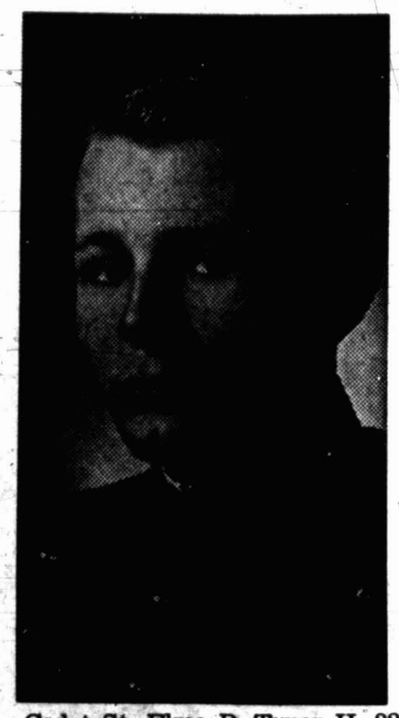
Scholarship categories are painting, sculpture, illustration, advertising art, industrial design, metal and jewelry, teacher education, ceramics, weaving, interior design and printmaking.

An invitation is extended to all artists who may wish to submit paintings and/or sculpture for consideration by the art selection committee of the Salinas City Hall.

If purchased, such works would become a part of the permanent collection there. In order to be considered, the entry must be of the highest quality, relate to a specific area in the city hall, and be in accordance with the specifications of the art committee. The first deadline for acceptance of paintings is May 15, 1965. The first deadline for acceptance of sculpture is April 15, 1965. All work is to be delivered uncrated to the city hall.

Copies of printed specifications and further information may be obtained by writing to the city manager's office in the Salinas City Hall.

Last week during the board of directors meeting called by John Cunningham, new president of the Carmel Art Association, committee chairmen for 1965 were selected. Those who will head the various committees are Jessie MacGregor and Reginald Machado, building and house; Eugene Baker, policy; Richard Lofton, hanging and one-man shows; Kathryn Aurner, publicity; John Cunningham, business relations; Charles Thomas, hospital exhibits; Jay Hannah, picture inventory; and Arch Garner, sculpture.



Cadet St. Elmo P. Tyner II, 22, son of Colonel and Mrs. St. Elmo Tyner, Carmel, marched in the Presidential Inaugural Parade in Washington, D.C., as a member of the Corps of Cadets from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. A member of the Class of 1965, he was one of the 600 cadets selected to represent the academy in the parade.

'Winnie-the-Pooh' This Weekend At White Oaks Theatre

The dramatization of "Winnie-the-Pooh," being presented from King City to Los Altos by the Fantasy Players of White Oaks Theatre, will be performed on eight consecutive Sundays commencing this weekend in the repertory company's Carmel Valley theatre.

The play includes such familiar acquaintances as Rabbit, Eeyore, Piglet, Owl, Kanga, and Roo, plus, of course, the lovable Pooh and his friend, Christopher Robin.

The cast, under the direction of Gale Peterson, features members of the repertory company who are also currently appearing in Agatha Christie's play, "The Mousetrap," on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Reservations for all performances are now available and because of the popularity of the show, the theatre advises that reservations be made well in advance of performances.

BIG SUR GRANGE INSTALLATION

Big Sur Grange officers for 1965 were installed recently by State Grange Overseer Chester Deaver in a ceremony held at the Marina Grange Hall. For the third year, Hugh Fleenor of Big Sur is chief officer (or master) of the Big Sur Grange. Other officers of the local organization who were installed during the special ceremonies were Everett Makowski, overseer; Ted Bergquist, lecturer; Norma Harnett, secretary; and Grover Meyrose, treasurer.

The Big Sur Grange Hall, in its lovely setting beneath the great trees along the river in Big Sur, has long been the center of community activities and the many Grange-sponsored programs have brought delight and information to countless people. Among these are the Pot Luck Revue, an extraordinary entertainment presented each spring, and to which members of the audience come from many parts of the state. The community Christmas Party is jointly sponsored by the Grange and the Parents Club of the Captain Cooper School.

Through the generosity and interest of the members of the Grange, the Grange Hall is made available for meetings of community interest throughout the year. The Little Lyric Theatre of Big Sur (a non-profit theater established last year) had its inception at the Big Sur Grange Hall. The South Coasters, a square dance group now in its fourth year, meets at the hall every Wednesday evening and Saturday night is "movie" night for the community.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Ralph B. Atkinson of Bixby Creek was recently elected chairman of the Highlands-Bixby Advisory Committee, a group which reviews building plans and design, requests for variances, use permits, etc. and makes recommendations to the Monterey County Planning Commission. The area in which the committee functions is from Carmel River south to Bixby Creek. Secretary is Donald F. Criley of Carmel Meadows. Norman Godbe of Bixby Canyon is a member of the committee.

NEPENTHE CLOSES

Nepenthe, Big Sur's well-known restaurant, is closed until April 1. However the Phoenix, a gift and gourmet shop, is open every day. As a service to their patrons in Big Sur and to the many winter tourists, the Phoenix has opened a dining area on the first level of the handsome new structure. There a "light lunch" consisting of soup, sandwiches, desserts, is available daily. The Phoenix is operated in conjunction with Nepenthe.

ESALEN INSTITUTE

"America and China," a seminar presenting a critique of American Policy toward Red China, will be conducted by Esalen Institute at Big Sur Hot Springs, January 29-31.

Leaders of the seminar will be Nobel Prize Winner Linus Pauling of Santa Barbara; Ralph B. Atkinson of Bixby Creek; Dennis Doolin of Stanford University; Robert E. Gomperts of San Francisco; John Raser of the Western Behavorial Sciences Institute in La Jolla; and George Zaninovich of the University of California, Berkeley.

The seminar will review and discuss political, economic and psychological aspects of past and current policy.

Talk By Mrs. Riebe About UN Agencies

Tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. in the music room at Carmel High School, Mrs. H. Paul Riebe will discuss "The Little Known Agencies of the UN" at a meeting open to the public and co-sponsored by the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula and the Carmel Adult School. Mrs. Riebe lives in Carmel Woods and is a member of the local World Affairs Council.

She is also a member of the United Nations Association of San Francisco. Her interest in the work of the United Nations agencies started in 1934-1937, when, with her husband, Rear Admiral H. Paul Riebe, and their two sons, she lived in the Philippines and China and traveled through other areas of the Far East. She saw the conditions under which children were born, the privations they endured, and the limitations in resources within the countries where the problems were the greatest.

In 1955, on a trip to Europe, she visited several UNICEF-assisted projects, including the Children's Centre in Paris. In 1957 she was appointed chairman of the San Francisco Council of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF. In 1961 she was elected to membership in the corporate body of the U.S. committee, and is at present a member. In February, 1961, she was one of the 14 U.S. committee volunteers selected to tour Mexico and Guatemala visiting UNICEF-aided projects

Nice day for a dryer.
But then again, so is every day. Because in addition to letting you dry the wash day or night—in any weather—a dryer dries better than anything under the sun. For example, with new damp dry settings, clothes come out just right for ironing. And some things need no ironing at all. Clothes also come out as clean as they went in. No clothesline marks, dust or dirt. Dryers also have a real soft touch. All your laundry comes out light and fluffy.
So far we haven't even mentioned how much work a dryer saves. But it will save you lugging two tons of wet wash a year.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

All of the books we are to discuss today are oversize books with lots of pictures. Some of them are quite heavy, meaning heavy in pounds, and the best of them all is also the heaviest. It is THE ISLAND RACE by Sir Winston Churchill. The material in the book was compressed from A HISTORY OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING PEOPLES, the last volume of which appeared in 1958. The quality of both the writing and the illustrations for this book is superb. Many of the illustrations are reproduced from paintings in the collection of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II. The magic of Sir Winston's mastery of the English language is here, coupled with his understanding of his country and her people. This book came to us through the Monterey County Library and we ask your care in handling it for it was very expensive. If there are children of any age in your home, please keep the book up and away from them. If it is damaged while charged to you the fine may send you screaming to the hills for help. Remember!

World War I buffs are everywhere and we have a new book which should delight them. The title is OVER THERE and it was written by Frank Freidel. There are really excellent photographs in this book, the text of which covers the American entry into the war and all the weary months after that until the signing of the armistice and the journey back to the States.

A huge book on TOKYO is by William Klein. The pictures are very good, some of them are beautiful and all are interesting. The unfortunate thing about the book is that the explanations of the pictures are all in a single section in the front of the book. This means that the reader must turn back and forth with every page of illustration to learn who or what he is viewing. An awkward arrangement which should be used only for culture-bait books on cocktail tables.

The Talisman Press in Georgetown, California, has a book by Kenneth M. Johnson called SAN FRANCISCO AS IT IS, which is not precisely accurate because the "as is" time was 1850-1852, and the material contained in the book was gleaned from the San Francisco Picayune. This is Kenneth Johnson's eighth book on California history. The photograph on the jacket shows an early circulating library, or rather the sign for one. Great stuff in this book with a cover picture like that!

The next book has been deemed a picture-book with a text which is more important than the pictures. It is THE PRESENCE OF SPAIN by James Morris. The pictures were done by Evelyn Hofer and they are very beautiful, the color plates being especially subtle.

A photographer from Life Magazine made the photographs for the next book, which is a biography and a description of techniques used by William Thon who is one of America's successful painters today. The book is by Alan Gruskin and is entitled THE PAINTER AND HIS TECHNIQUES: WILLIAM THON.

And lastly, we have a book entitled HANDWEAVING by Iona Plath. This book is oversize without being really outsize, and has many illustrations, some of which are in color. And if you are interested in handweaving, do visit the library to see the exhibition of weaving done by Mrs. Clara Martinie which is in the main reading room. Beautiful!

Realtors Approve Program To Ease Property Taxation

The California Real Estate Association has just approved a four-point program aimed at relieving the tax burden on property owners, it was announced by Bion Burchell, president of the Carmel Board of Realtors.

He said that, at a three-day meeting in San Francisco, over 1,000 officers and directors of the 173-member real estate boards making up CREA approved these actions:

1. Recommend that the State legislature broaden the tax base by removing all provisions from the state taxation code which exempt non-profit or other organizations from paying taxes on residential real property.

2. Advocated definite legislation for a half-percent increase in sales taxes, which would be distributed to the counties of source, such funds to be used only to reduce real property taxes.

3. Recommend legislative steps to limit the tax on real property.

4. Go on record as completely opposed to any levy by the State of California of ad valorem taxes on real property; that is, a state tax which would be in addition to that already levied by other taxing agencies.

"The property owner in California is being hit hard by rising taxes and is just about at the limit he can endure, in our opinion," Burchell said. "Continued growth in our own community and throughout the state creates the need for additional tax revenues. At the same time, asking the property owner to carry too much of the load could injure that growth. We must seek other ways of raising needed funds."

Burchell also reported that over $2,600 for flood relief in northwestern California was raised when the group passed the hat at the meeting. It was turned over, through the Eureka Board of Realtors, to the Humboldt-Del Norte County Disaster Relief which has an announced goal of $100,000.

MPC Faculty Senate Praises Fred Keeble

The Monterey Peninsula College Faculty Senate, in a letter to Fred Keeble of Keeble & Rhoda, college architects, told him this week of its resolution to commend him for the design of the buildings embodied in the MPC Master Plan.

Copies of the resolution were sent to MPC President George J. Faul and members of the board of trustees.

The Keeble & Rhoda designs form the basis for MPC's February 16 bond issue, which seeks to raise $4,712,000 for construction of new multi-story buildings to replace the World War II barracks classrooms now in use.

Mr. Keeble, a Carmel resident, is a member of the Carmel Planning Commission.

Naming contests being "in" right now, we have another one to report. Pack 48 of the Cub Scouts wanted a sort of talisman or mascot or whatever and somebody donated a lovely old bearskin. The boys autograph it and it becomes a permanent roster to pass down through the ages. It had no name and of course, it needed one so they held a contest. I'm still puzzling over the winner: Tiger.

But I guess it isn't very strange, at that. My son had a dog whose name was Horse.

Headline in one of the other Peninsula papers: Brief Lull In State Weather. You mean, we're not going to have any for awhile?

Not content with all the water outside last week, Golden Bough Theatre had to have a little flood of its own. Their lobby fountain went on the fritz and there was water, water, everywhere.

If coons would organize the way Brewers' blackbirds have done, they wouldn't have to go around stealing. Have you wondered about all those blackbirds on the telephone and telegraph wires at Sixth and Dolores? That's their bread line. Somebody at the Village Corner feeds them. You should go by and hear them singing for their supper. Gorgeous!

Which reminds me, it's all very well to stand around looking at blackbirds but you'll have to be careful when the starlings get ready to build their nests. They'll snoop down and yank the hair right out of your head, if you have the right kind, just as they do to Georgie Bruce's poor old Siamese cat.

We were walking on the beach last weekend and came upon what at first we thought was some new kind of dog. It was Malcolm Moran's darling little brown Nubian goat. He and Donald Buby each have one. Malcolm's doing a sculpture of his. They're the perfect pets, they say.

We just heard a cute story about Carmel's late beloved Jimmy Hopper. He hated movies but he was dragged to a Hollywood premiere one time and it almost changed his attitude. People started asking him for his autograph. He was tickled to death. "I had no idea so many people remembered my writing," he said. Nobody had the heart to tell him that, with his mop of blond curls, they thought he was Harpo Marx.

Life in the City Clerk's office must be pretty rough. We heard Carla Poff had thrown her jaw out of socket and we thought it might have something to do with those exercises the boss puts them through. But no. It's an old trick of Carla's. She grinds her teeth. That hard? we asked. Oh yes! she said, but I just keep grinding until I've got it back in place.

Some time ago, Priscilla Nesbitt heard that you can make a fine bird feeder by filling a pine cone with bacon fat. She did so and presented it to Laidlaw Williams, Carmel Highlands ornithologist. He was delighted and hung it in the very best place for bird watching. That night some uninformed, or unsympathetic coon came along and stole the birds' feast.

Camp Fire Girls To Sell Boxes Of Chocolate Mints

Tomorrow is "M-Day" for hundreds of Monterey Peninsula Camp Fire Girls and their junior Blue Bird sisters. Young ladies dressed in their red, white and blue service costumes will begin their annual sale and again offer the traditional chocolate-covered mints which have proven so popular in past years. They sell for the modest price of $1.00 a box.

Proceeds from the sale, which continues through February 15, will be used to extend the Camp Fire Girls program in our community and make it possible for more girls to share in its activities. It will also supplement the treasury of individual Camp Fire groups and assist with the expenses of service activities, handcrafts, community projects and field trips.

Anyone not reached by a Camp Fire Girl, and who wishes to purchase mints, may telephone 624-5650.

ACCIDENT INJURIES

An accident involving two autos occurred at 8 p.m. last night at the intersection of Highway One and Ocean Avenue, resulting in major injuries to the driver and passenger of one car. Phyllis Jean Farrar, 18, of Carmel Highlands, driver of the first car, and Janet Marie Ramoni, 17, of Carmel Valley, were taken by Red Cross ambulance to the Community Hospital. Today Miss Ramino was reported in satisfactory condition, while Miss Farrar's condition was described as fair.

Miss Mary Sargent, well known Pebble Beach golfer, remains under intensive care following emergency chest surgery at Community Hospital on Sunday. She was injured in an accident in which Miss Sargent was crushed between her automobile and a fence.

Anne B. Johnson

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Allen Bayless Johnson of Monterey and Irwin Twining Johnson of Irvington; her mother, Mrs. Anne Bayless Allen of Pacific Grove; and six grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held in the Mission Mortuary chapel on Saturday at 11 a.m.

Friends wishing to make contributions in the memory of Mrs. Johnson may do so to the Communty Hospital, Box HH, Carmel, or the Alpha Phi Heart Fund.

PEBBLE BEACH OWNER MOVING — WANTS ACTION

Owner of this beautifully situated Pebble Beach residence wants an immediate sale so price has been reduced to a realistic figure. Statistically the property consists of four bedrooms, four and one-half baths, with a double garage situated just above Del Monte Lodge on an acre and a quarter of valuable real estate, but when you see the delightful location, the marvelous view of Carmel Bay and Point Lobos, the well-designed and well-built redwood residence which is less than ten years old, and have an opportunity to discover and inspect a tremendous number of unusual features not ordinarily found in this price bracket, you will agree that even our editorial eloquence has failed to properly present this property as it really is. The master suite with its own private balcony and two baths is separate from the other bedrooms, but just off the livingroom. There is a study, another bedroom and bath, and a separate studio or guest room with its own dressing-room and bath and separate heating plant. There is a St. Charles kitchen, a spacious utilityroom, a garage with an automatic door, and for the horticulturist—a greenhouse, lathhouse, a multitude of landscaping and flower bed, completely sprinklered front and back. Call Mr. Bigelow for an appointment to see at your earliest convenience. Asking $94,000.

Pianist Grant Johannesen To Be Symphony Soloist

Grant Johannesen, the American pianist whose virtuosity has been acclaimed in all the music capitals of the world, will appear as guest soloist with the Monterey County Symphony on February 9 in Sunset School auditorium.

The program which will take place at 8:15 p.m. will feature Mr. Johannesen in a performance of the Brahms' Piano Concerto No. 2. Other works scheduled for performance include Haydn's Symphony No. 95 and Aaron Copland's "A Lincoln Portrait." The latter work will be narrated by Stephen Bishop.

Mr. Johannesen's appearances with the major symphonies of the United States, frequent guest performances on television and numerous recordings have made him a favorite with American music lovers. His sold-out concert in New York's Philharmonic Hall in Lincoln Center was described by the New York Times as "music making in the best of taste, animated by a fine mind and a pair of hands that must be the envy of his colleagues."

Tickets for the Carmel performance are at a premium and season ticket holders who may be unable to attend are asked to turn in their tickets for resale. For further information telephone 624-4125.

Editor's Column

"In the years to come," this report stated, "the need for open areas or neighborhood recreation sites may be of paramount concern to Carmel residents. The Forest Theater has a great potential for fulfilling such future needs."

That there may be future needs for neighborhood recreation sites was emphasized in the report which said, "The patterns of Carmel's residential areas of the future are being developed today, namely a dense development of homes on small sites with little open space or vistas left."

There was no mention at all of a parking lot at the Forest Theater. What was suggested for possible parking lot use was the present city hall site.

All this leaves the Forest Theater exactly where it has been for a number of years . . . used in the summer months for the free Sunday afternoon programs arranged by the arts commission and rehearsal and production of a children's play under the school district's summer recreation program.

The oldtime illustration at the head of this story shows the pathway leading to the Forest Theater . . . a pathway once trod by most of the town's populace. The figure of Pan above the sign symbolized the lure of the first community open-air theatre established in the United States.

On the Forest Theater stage were performed Robinson Jeffers' tragedies, one of them a world premiere. Other famous and not so famous playwrights had their works staged at the Forest Theater. There were Gilbert and Sullivan and Shakespeare productions and the annual children's play.

Many of the performances would not even begin to meet today's standards for dramatic performance but that little path led to wider cultural horizons for many people. It also led to Carmel becoming known as a center for the dramatic arts long before the present proliferation of indoor theatres.

Soon the city will own an indoor theatre, Sunset School auditorium. Property owners will look askance at maintaining two facilities even though one of them has one of the most beautiful outdoor stage settings in the world.

Progress and practicality are pushing the Forest Theatre out of the Carmel picture.

For a town which prides itself on being different, this is sad. We seem to be replacing blazing bonfires for mechanical heating devices, moonlight for roofs and trees for walls.

But without that little path, now so little trodden, Carmel might have become just another ordinary city. —M.L.

Hundreds Of Doctors Arrive For Annual Medical Meetings

Also here to visit old friends between symposium sessions is Dr. James Hopper Jr., faculty member of the University of California Medical School.

Dr. Hopper's specialty is research in renal problems. Findings of his research team, on the effects of the use of phenacetin on the kidney, were published in August, 1964, in the Journal of California Medicine.

acres adjacent to the school.

The board accepted the 1963-64 audit made by B. L. Heckenlaible, certified public accountant.

Programs of study for 1965-66 for Carmel High School, also the intermediate school, which will replace the junior high, were approved by the board. That an applied or fine arts course shall continue to be required for high school graduation will be reviewed by the board at a coming meeting.

A folding partition was approved for Carmelo School. Deadline for written reports of the Citizens Advisory Committee On Curriculum to be sent to the board was set for April 15.

Trustee Clayton Neill Jr. reported on the new plan lines for Carmel Valley Road which will effect the site of a future junior high school near the Farm Center. This will be further discussed at the February 10 meeting of the board.

Trustees unanimously approved Chairman Dr. Robert Newton's proposal that a letter be sent to Monterey, Pacific Grove and Marina School districts inviting board members and superintendents to meet with the Carmel board and superintendent to discuss possible benefits of a unified Peninsula-wide school district.

"Future legislation may force it. It is desirable at this stage to explore the extent of co-operation that can be accomplished," Dr. Newton advised other trustees.
